REGIONS OVERDRAFT PROTECTION

How it works	With Regions Overdraft Protection (ODP), your business checking account is linked to a designated funding account at Regions, such as another business deposit account (including a savings or money market account), a credit card account or a line of credit.
Purpose	ODP may be used to authorize and/or to pay CheckCard and ATM transactions if your checking account lacks sufficient available funds. ODP may be used to pay checks, ACH transactions (such as direct payments and electronic bill pay transactions), and other items when payment of those items would overdraw the checking account.
Available funds in ODP funding accounts	While ODP may prevent overdrafts, it is subject to the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If the funding account is a business deposit account, then all available funds in that account can be used for ODP. • If the funding account is a business credit card account, the entire available cash advance limit on the card can be used for ODP. • If the funding account is a business line of credit, the entire amount available under the line can be used for ODP.
ODP transfers and fees	We generally transfer amounts from the designated funding account to the checking account in increments of $100. If the available balance of the funding account is less than $100, or the available balance of the funding account is less than the $100 increment that otherwise would be transferred to cover the amount of the overdraft, we will transfer the full amount of the available balance of the funding account to the checking account. ➡ EXAMPLE: If one or more items would overdraw your checking account by $250 and the available balance of your funding account is $300 or greater, we will transfer $300 from your funding account to your checking account. However, if the available balance of the funding account is $275, we will transfer the entire $275 from your funding account to your checking account. A transfer fee of up to $12 will be charged to the checking account each day that a transfer occurs. If the checking account still has an insufficient available balance to pay an overdraft item even after we advance available funds from the funding account, we may return the item or pay it into overdraft. We may then charge the checking account a Paid Overdraft Item fee or a Returned Item fee of $36 per item, in addition to the daily ODP transfer fee. Transfers from another deposit account may be subject to transaction limits and excessive withdrawal fees. Funds transferred from a credit line or credit card account will accrue interest at the interest rate provided in the agreement for that account.

Other fees	Depending on the checking account’s Standard Overdraft Coverage election, a $36 Paid Overdraft Item fee or Returned Item Fee may be charged to the covered checking account if the combined available balance of the covered checking account and the amount available for Overdraft Protection in the funding account are not sufficient to cover items that would otherwise overdraft the checking account.

Qualifying for ODP	To qualify for ODP, you must open or have an eligible Regions business funding account* and enroll in ODP. Business credit accounts serving as designated funding accounts are subject to credit approval. You should not assume we will use funds in the ODP funding account to authorize and to pay transactions on the checking account until we notify you in writing that we have processed your request to enroll in ODP. We may not make Overdraft Advances on your credit card account until your credit card account has been open at least 14 days, unless you activate the card on your account before that date. In that event, we may make Overdraft Advances after your credit card has been activated, even if 14 days have not yet passed. *Home equity lines of credit (HELOCs) secured by Texas property are not eligible funding accounts for Overdraft Protection.

REGIONS STANDARD OVERDRAFT COVERAGE

How it works	Standard Overdraft Coverage is a service we may provide on your qualified business checking account to cover transactions that exceed the available balance in your account and any funds available for Overdraft Protection, if applicable. Not every business account qualifies for Standard Overdraft Coverage, and even a qualified account later may temporarily or permanently lose its qualified status. Whether an account qualifies for Standard Overdraft Coverage and the amount of coverage we provide can vary depending on several factors, including the age of the account. New accounts rarely qualify for Standard Overdraft Coverage immediately upon being opened, even if you already have other accounts that qualify for Standard Overdraft Coverage.
When we may provide Standard Overdraft Coverage	We may use Standard Overdraft Coverage to pay check, ACH and recurring CheckCard transactions. However, we may decline to pay these items into overdraft on an account, even if that account has Standard Overdraft Coverage. In that event, we will return the item and charge a Returned Item fee. We may also use Standard Overdraft Coverage to authorize and to pay CheckCard and ATM transactions into overdraft. We will charge Paid Overdraft Item fees when those transactions are paid into overdraft. NOTE: We reserve the right to require you to pay any overdraft immediately or upon demand. We also reserve the right not to pay overdrafts. We typically do not authorize overdrafts if your account is new, if your account is not in good standing, if you are not making regular deposits, or if you have too many overdrafts.
Overdraft fee	Our Paid Overdraft Item (and Returned Item) fee is $36 and is subject to change.
Fee limits	We will charge you a combined total of no more than six (6) Paid Overdraft Item and Returned Item fees per day.
One-time fee refund	Regions offers a one-time refund of Paid Overdraft/Returned Item fees charged to your account based on one day's processing. Contact your local branch or Relationship Manager or call 1-800-REGIONS (734-4667) for your fee refund.
