The Federal Direct PLUS Loan for graduate students and private student loans

Many graduate students are considering financing their education with either Federal Graduate PLUS Loans or private student loans. This comparison chart will help you understand the features and benefits of each.

Interest rates and fees for private loans vary from lender to lender based on the credit of the individual borrower and cosigner; however, other factors may also be considered. We recommend that you research private loans before deciding which type is best for you.

Whose name is on the loan?	Student and endorser (if applicable)	Student and cosigner (if applicable)
Cosigner requirement	No, but applicants with an adverse credit history may obtain an endorser.	No, but a student with little or no credit history may have a better chance of getting a loan by applying with a creditworthy cosigner.
Cosigner release option	This loan does not require a cosigner.	Yes, many lenders provide a cosigner release option where the student can apply to release the cosigner after he or she graduates, makes a specified number of on-time payments, and meets underwriting requirements.
Interest rate	For loans first disbursed on or after July 1, 2021, and before July 1, 2022, the interest rate is fixed at 6.28%.	Many lenders offer both variable and fixed interest rates. Interest rates for graduate students start from 1.89% to 12.00% for variable and range from 4.64% to 12.59% for fixed. Although lenders may consider multiple factors, rates are generally based on the borrower's and cosigner's creditworthiness, so those with good credit may qualify for a lower rate.
Origination/disbursement fees	4.228% for loans first disbursed on or after October 1, 2020 and before October 1, 2022.	0% Offered by most lenders, but can vary.
Borrower benefits	0.25 percentage point interest rate reduction for automatic debit enrollment.	Most lenders offer a 0.25 percentage point interest rate reduction for automatic debit enrollment. Additional benefits vary by lender.
Repayment period	10 – 25 years of principal and interest payments.	Varies by lender; typically terms of 5 – 20 years of principal and interest payments.
Loan limits	Up to 100% of school-certified expenses minus other financial aid received.	Generally, up to 100% of school-certified expenses, minus financial aid received; lenders may impose limits based on various factors, and can have different loan limits for different loan programs.
Credit check required	Yes, applicants with an adverse credit history may obtain an endorser or meet additional requirements to qualify.	Yes, loan approval and pricing is generally based on creditworthiness.
Minimum enrollment status	At least half-time.	Varies by lender; some offer loans to borrowers who are attending school less than half-time.
Application process	Online through the Department of Education's FAFSA® process, but some schools have different application processes.	Online with lender or other potential application options, e.g., applying over the phone.

Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) required	Yes.	No, students aren't required to complete the FAFSA unless it's the school's policy.
Minimum payment amount while the student is enrolled in school	PLUS Loan payments are deferred during school and for six months after graduation, leaving school, or dropping below half-time enrollment (interest continues to accrue during this time and is added to the loan's principal amount when the deferment period ends).	Varies by lender; many lenders allow private loan payments to be deferred while in school (interest accrues during this time and is added to the loan's principal amount when the deferment period ends). In addition, many lenders offer options to make monthly interest payments while in school.
Death and disability loan forgiveness	Yes. If the primary borrower dies or becomes permanently and totally disabled, then the loan will be discharged if certain conditions are met.	Varies by lender; some lenders waive the remaining balance in the event of the primary borrower's death or permanent and total disability.
Ability to consolidate through the Department of Education	Yes, the student can consolidate with other federal loans in their name.	No, they cannot be included with federal student loans.
Options for denied loans	Applicants with an adverse credit history may still be able to receive a PLUS loan if they meet additional requirements. See studentaid.ed.gov for more information.	The student could apply with a different cosigner if the cosigner was denied, or apply with another private lender.
Payment flexibility	PLUS loans for graduate students are eligible for multiple repayment plans including standard, graduated, and extended repayment options, federal consolidation, pay as you earn, income-driven repayment, and some public service loan forgiveness options. See studentaid.gov for more information.	Varies by lender. Contact lender for their specific repayment options.

Borrow responsibly

We encourage students and families to start with savings, grants, scholarships, and federal student loans to pay for college. Students and families should evaluate all anticipated monthly loan payments, and how much the student expects to earn in the future, before considering a private student loan.
